SKILLS

I specialize in developing native web applications utilizing cutting-edge technologies like React and Node.js to deliver exceptional user experiences.

I have the ability to initiate projects from scratch, covering all stages: from defining business logic and designing branding to creating appealing user interfaces.

I also manage the design and maintenance of both relational and non-relational databases, full frontend development and APIs implementation.

Additionally, I have experience in DevOps, including cloud service integration and version control using Git and GitHub.
